Since the 1980s, I've known Melva Lea Beacham to be a woman of prayer and have watched her press her way through adversity.

During more than 30 years of work with troubled youth in detention facilities and prisons, I have often been asked, "How do I pray and get God to hear me? How do I know He will answer me?" I believe Melva's STOP! LOOK! LISTEN! The Lord's Prayer for Young People will positively impact and empower youth in the dynamics of relating to God through prayer. I will use this tool to equip generations to face life's challenges and wage war in the heavenlies.

I am thrilled that my friend Melva Lea Beacham — a woman of prayer with a heart for children — has written STOP! LOOK! LISTEN! The Lord's Prayer for Young People. I will use it to change lives in my 15 children's homes and schools in Africa, India, and Nepal by teaching children to know God better, talk with Him, and receive answers to their prayers.

STOP! LOOK! LISTEN!

STOP! LOOK! LISTEN! The Lord's Prayer for Young People is a tool of intentionality to help parents and educators instill the joyful discipline of prayer in children. As an educator in a variety of schools since the 1970s, I confirm this material and these activities are engaging, pedagogically sound, and user friendly.

My strongest impression about the content and the power inherent in teaching children to pray comes from being the school principal for the author's children — John, Jo Anna, and Joy. These elementary and middle school students were absolutely children of character — positive peer influence, sincere love of Christ, and joy in the Holy Spirit. These children (now adults wholeheartedly serving God) were clearly “young prayer warriors,” and they stand out in my memories because of the genuineness of their walk — the product of prayer.

STOP! LOOK! LISTEN! is a powerful, intentional response to children and young people desiring to know God. Its dynamic will change their lives and ultimately impact lives all around them for generations.

Melva Lea Beacham's powerful presentation of Matthew 6:9-13 allows young and old alike to experience Heaven on Earth, the Father's will, and righteousness, peace, and joy in the Holy Ghost — the Kingdom of God.

St. Augustine wrote, “God, You have made us for Yourself, and our hearts are restless until they find their rest in You.” There is no greater joy for children or adults than communicating with God. There is no higher responsibility for parents and grandparents than teaching children how to know and love God. Melva Lea Beacham's landmark book is a valuable tool for helping your children know, love, and walk with their heavenly Father. Allow STOP! LOOK! LISTEN! The Lord's Prayer for Young People to bring hope and blessing to your family.
